IT'S A WRAP!

EXPLORING NATURE, BLUFF STYLE

This year's Barwon Heads Nature Festival was a great success, with good attendances all the activities. We were very pleased at the number of families who joined in.

The weather played nice for most of the time (except a very windy Monday which saw the canoe journeys postponed until the Wednesday). Nature put on a show too, especially a group of whales that had a play off the coast during our Walk on Country.

You can read all the news of the week on our website at barwonbluff.com.au/nature-festival, where you will also find a collection of photos. Check out over the page for a gallery of pictures from the week.

A big thanks to all the volunteers who organised and ran the week. There are too many to mention here, but believe us when we say we are very grateful.

Everything Friends of the Bluff does is conducted by dedicated volunteers giving up their time to organise and run activities and conduct conservation efforts.

Conservation Conversation & AGM

@ Lobster Pot (Discovery Centre)

This month's Conservation Conversation will include our Annual General Meeting, with an earlier than usual start (for the AGM) at 6.45 pm.

After the AGM we'll have a guest speaker and supper.

Some current committee members won't be seeking re-election, so please email Chris if you are interested in nominating for the committee. Reimaginebluff2022@gmail.com
